

Index

- Abduction, 14
- Abductive Codebook, 207
- Abductive research methodology, 204–207
- Abductive thematic analysis, 203–206
  - key challenges and limitations, 216–217
  - phases, 207–211
  - small business social responsibility in foodservice sector, 211–216
- ABI/Inform Global, 44
- Ableist bias, 29–30
- Abstraction process, 135
- Accreted ethnographers, 194–195
- Action research, 237–238, 240
  - in academic research programs, 242
  - characteristics, 238
  - generating theory through, 247
  - implementing, 244–246
  - needs, 242–243
  - origins and philosophy, 240
  - quality in, 247–248
  - skills, 246
  - in tourism and hospitality research, 241–242
- Agreement, 149
- Amazon's Mechanical Turk, 115
- American Psychological Association (APA), 172
- ANOVA, 119
- Answer formats, 97–99, 106
- Assurance procedures, 209–211
- ATLAS, 145
- ATLAS. ti, 135
- Attention check questions, 78, 86, 89
- Augmentative and alternative communication (AAC), 29
  - challenging ableist bias around children using, 29–30
- Axial coding, 260–262
- Bestiality in leisure and tourism, 30–32
- Bibliographic coupling, 64, 71
- Bibliometrics, 55–56
  - analysis, 55–56, 285
  - bibliographic coupling, 71
  - citation and publication structure of scientific field, 64–65
  - co-authorship analysis, 71
  - co-citation analysis, 65–71
  - co-occurrence of author keywords, 71
  - documents, 58–59
  - indicators, 62–63
  - interpretation, 64–71
  - leading authors, institutions, and countries, 65
  - literature review, 56–60
  - methods, 60–64
  - most cited documents, 65
  - most productive journals, 65
  - WoS options, 61
- Binary stability measure, 97
- Bootstrap test, 119
- Bradford's law, 56–57
- Case studies (CSs), 224–226
  - approach, 222–228
  - operationalizing, 228
  - research, 162, 223–224
  - selecting, 226–227
- CATPAC, 135
- Causal effect, 119
- Chrono ethnography, 3, 191–192
- Citations, 56–57, 62
  - per document, 62

- Citavi®, 46
 Classical GT, 254–257
 Co-authorship analysis, 64, 71
 Co-citation analysis, 63, 65, 71
 Co-occurrence of author keywords, 64, 71
 COARSE theory of measurement, 100
 Coding, 133
   interviews, 207–208
   scheme, 134
 Cognition, 101
 Coldharbour project in Brixton, 274
 Collection, analysis, and discussion of data framework (CAD framework), 40, 43
 Comparative case study
   approach, 223–225
   methodological reflections and commentary, 230 in tourism, 228–230
 Compensation, 181
 Componential analysis, 199
 Concealment, 195–196
 Constructivism, 161
 Constructivist GT, 255, 257
 Consumer-generated media (CGM), 150–151
 Content analysis. See also Qualitative content analysis, 127–129, 143–144, 275
   approach, 143–144
   as data treatment technique, 145–146 within hospitality and tourism research, 150–151
   modes, 146–148
 Convenience sampling, 105
 Conventional content analysis, 148
 Core action research project, 242
 Covariates, 119–120
 Covert method, 195–196
 Credibility, 136–137, 210
 Crowdsourcing platforms, 81

 Data analysis, 143–144, 167–168
 Data collection methods, 164, 181, 183
 Data display, 146, 167
 Data reduction, 146, 167
 Data treatment technique, content analysis as, 145–146
 Data triangulation, 137
 Deductive content analysis, 133
 360-degree involvement, 274
 Demographic data, 182
 Dependability, 211
 Destination marketing organizations (DMOs), 143–144
 Device ownership, 179
 Dillman's ToDM, 82
 Directed content analysis, 148
 Directed content analysis. See Deductive content analysis Disabled children language and identity, 27–28
   research context, 27
   researching with, 27–30
 Disabled people's organizations (DPOs), 28
 Disclosure, 195–196
 Distress, 30
 Documents, 166
 Domain analysis, 197–198
 Drafting PhD thesis, 172–173
 Drawing and verifying conclusions, 146

 EBSCOhost, 44
 Ecological validity, 183–184
 Effect size, 120
 Embedded survey questions impact on survey response rate and quality, 83–86 in invitation emails, 79, 83
 Empiricism, 8
 Epistemological position, 7–9
 Epistemology, 5–8
 Ethical reflexivity, 21–22
 Ethics, 21–22, 172
 Ethnographic interviews, 3, 190
 Ethnographic research, 3
 Ethnography, 189–190
   conduct, 192–196

- ethnographic analysis and narrative, 196–200
- forms, 190
- meaning, origins, and types, 190–192
- Evaluative techniques, 60, 62–63
- Event-contingent sampling, 180
- Everyday life, 177
- Experience Sampling Method (ESM), 3, 176
  - analyzing data, 184
  - data, 182
  - ordinary and extraordinary moments of tourist experience with, 177–178
  - preparation, 179–181
  - questionnaires, 179–180
  - recall bias and ecological validity, 183–184
  - study design, 178–183
  - in tourism research, 176–177
- Experiment, 113
- Experimental design, 114
- Experimental research, 119
- External validity, 116

- Face-to-face interview, 275
- Factorial ANOVA, 119
- Floodlight analysis, 119
- Follow-up interview, 183
- Food and Beverage (F&B), 229
- Foot-in-the-door phenomenon, 83
- Front Office managers (FOM), 229

- Generalizability with dependability, 136–137
- Goodness, 170
- Graphic mapping, 63–64
- Grounded theory (GT), 3–4, 191, 253–254
  - advantages, disadvantages, and limitations of, 265
  - approaches to, 257
  - comparison of approaches, 258–260
  - critical reflection on, 262–264
  - design, 257–261
  - development of, 255–257
  - example, 261–262
  - hospitality issues, 254–255
  - intellectual evolution and development of, 257
- H-index, 63
- High quality survey data, 103–107
- Hospitality, 1, 44, 57, 60, 190–191
  - using abductive methodology for, 204–205
  - action research in, 241–242
  - using content analysis technique within hospitality and tourism research, 150–151
- context, 2
- experimental research in, 3
- experimenters, 117
- literature of, 111–112
- papers, 112–113
- qualitative content analysis process in hospitality and tourism research, 130
- qualitative research in, 222–228
- research strategy in, 2
- researchers, 77–78
- scholarship, 8–9
- House Keeping managers (HKM), 229
- Human Resources managers (HRM), 229

- Identity, 27–28
- Impact factor (IF), 60, 63
- Increased response rate, 87
- Incremental approach, 195–196
- Incremental gap spotting, 284–285
- Inductive approach, 133
- Inductive-deductive research cycle, 14
- Informants, 194
- Institute for Scientific Information (ISI), 56–57
- Institutional review boards (IRBs), 23–24
- Instructional manipulation checks, 105
- Interdisciplinary approach, 271–272

- Internal validity, 116
- International studies, 221–222
- Interpretivism, 2, 8–10, 13
- Interpretivist paradigm, 222–223
- Interval-contingent sampling, 180
- Interviews, 164–165
- Investigator triangulation, 138
- Jaccard stability measure, 97
- Kappa analysis, 149
- Krippendorff's agreement coefficient alpha, 149
- Language, 27–28, 194
- Latent content analyses, 148
- Leximancer, 135, 145
- Likert scale, 99
- Literature reviews, 39, 151
- Lotka's Law, 56–57
- Manifest content analyses, 148
- MAXQDA®, 47
- Measurements, 97, 100
- Mechanical Turk (MTurk), 115
- Median-split, 119
- Mediation, 119
- Merging codes, 208
- Method triangulation, 137–138
- Methodology, 221–222
chapter, 157–158
- Mixed methods, 224
- Moderation, 119
- Multi-methods of data collection for
abduction, 206
- Multiple survey questions, 100
- Narrative reviews, 284–285
- National Parks Service, 277
- Negatively valenced influencing behavior (NVIB), 14–15
- Netnography, 3, 191–192
- Normal Theory approach, 119
- Notification schedule, 180–181
- NVIVO software, 135, 145, 207, 211
- Objective phase, 284–285
- Observations, 165–166
- One-way ANOVA, 119
- Online surveys, 77–78 embedded survey questions impact on survey response rate and quality, 83–86 embedded survey questions in invitation emails, 79, 83 findings, 87–89
limitations and future research suggestions, 91
literature review, 80–81
methods, 86–87
recommendations, 90–91
research, 80–81
survey response quality, 82–83 survey response rate, 81–82 tools, 84–85
- Online travel agents platforms (OTA platforms), 2
- Ontological position, 7–9
- Ontology, 5–8
- Open coding, 134, 262
sample of, 263
- Oral history
Coldharbour project in Brixton, 274
community projects, 272
face-to-face interview, 275
interdisciplinary approach, 271–272
interpretation of, 270 in tourism and hospitality, 276–278 tourism and hospitality researchers,
273–274
UK's, 269–270
unstructured interview, 273
Walking horse culture, 277–278
- Organization development (OD), 240
- p-value, 120
- Paradigms, 5–6
- Participant observation, 191
- Participants, 164
- Performance analysis. See Evaluative techniques

- PhD methodology chapter, 159–172
  - data analysis, 167–168
  - data collection methods, 164
  - documents, 166
  - ethics, 172
  - goodness and trustworthiness, 170
  - interviews, 164–165
  - observations, 165–166
  - participants, 164
  - philosophical foundation, 160–162
  - research approach, 159–160
  - research design, 162
  - research sites, 163–164
  - research steps, 168
  - researcher positionality, 170–172
- Philosophical assumptions, 5–6
- Philosophical foundation, 160–162
- Positivism, 2, 8–12
- Post-positivism, 8–13, 16
- Post-positivists, 9–10
- Practical knowledge, 239, 245–246
- Pragmatic-inspired approach, 40
- Pragmatism, 8–9, 13, 15–16
- Pragmatists, 14
- Pre-testing, 107
- Privacy, 181
- Procedural ethics vs. being ethical, 22–24
  - critical reflections on ethical journeys, 24–26
  - impact on readers, 26
  - impact on researcher, 25–26
  - researching with disabled children and young people, 27–30
  - sex and bestiality in leisure and tourism, 30–32
  - social media data with sensitive content, 24–25
- ProQuest, 40
- Psychometric methods of scale development, 100
- Publications, 62, 111–112, 118
- Publishing, 111–112
  - analysis and results section, 119–121
  - introductory section of paper, 112–113
  - literature review and hypothesis section, 113–114
  - method section, 114–118
  - multiple studies, 118
  - outcome variables, 117–118
  - participants, 115–116
  - recommendations, 121–122
  - settings and realism of manipulation, 116–117
- Purposive sampling for abduction, 206–207
- Qualitative content analysis, 127–128, 130, 143–144, 205
  - checklist for researchers, 131–132
  - data collection and analysis, 133–135
  - evaluation of process, 136–138
  - literature review, 145–148
  - preparation, 130–133
  - process in hospitality and tourism research, 130
  - reporting findings, 135–136
  - trustworthiness of qualitative content analyses, 149–150
- Qualitative Data Analysis (QDA), 47–48
- Qualitative method, 184–185
- Qualitative methodology, 222–223
- Qualitative research, 145
  - in hospitality and tourism studies, 222–228
  - literature review, 158–159
  - method, 129, 157–158
  - PhD methodology chapter, 159–172
- Qualtrics, 78, 83
- Quantitative research method, 129
- QuestionPro, 78, 83
- Rationalism, 8
- Realism, 9, 117
- Reality, 7, 9
- Recall bias, 183–184
- Recruiting, 181
  - compensation, 181
  - number of participants, 181

- with abductive research
  - methodology, 204–207
- Themes, 208
  - refining, 208–209
- Theoretical triangulation, 138
- Theory testing, 113–114
- Thesis action research project, 242–244
  - framing thesis research issue, 243
  - gaining access, 243–244
- Total design method (ToDM), 82
- Tourism, 1, 40–41, 44, 57, 60, 159–160, 175–176, 190–191, 221–222
  - using abductive methodology for, 204–205
  - academics, 176
  - action research in, 241–242
  - comparative case study in, 228–230
  - using content analysis technique
    - within hospitality and tourism research, 150–151
  - context, 2
  - ESM in tourism research, 176–177
  - experimental research in, 3
  - experimenters, 117
  - literature of, 111–112
  - papers, 112–113
  - qualitative content analysis process
    - in hospitality and tourism research, 130
  - qualitative research in, 222–228
  - research strategy in, 2
  - researchers, 77–78
  - scholarship, 8–9
  - studies, 223
  - tourism-oriented research, 224–226
- Tourist experience, 175–176
- Transcribing interviews, 207–208
- Transferability, 136–137, 210–211
- Triangulation, 48, 137–138, 170
- Trigger, 180–181
- True positivist approach, 10
- Trustworthiness, 170
  - of qualitative content analyses, 149–150
- Turkish tourism, 277
- Typology, 197
- Unit of analysis, 133
- User-generated content (UGC), 150–151, 287
- Validity, 136–137, 170
- Virtual reality (VR), 116–117
- Visual data, 166
- Walking horse culture, 277–278
- Web of Science, 44
- Women hotel managers' experiences, 228–230
- Writing up, 209
- Young people
  - ableist bias, 29–30
  - handling unexpected distress, 30
  - language and identity, 27–28
  - research context, 27
  - researching with, 27–30