

INDEX

Note: Page numbers followed by “n” indicate end notes.

- Academy of Management Journal (AMJ), 204
- Academy of Management Review (AMR), 204
- Actor-as-independent-variable agenda, 195
- Actors, 268
- ‘Acute Holding’ practice, 58–59
- ‘Acute’ zone, 54, 56
- Adjectives, conceptualising institutions as, 210–211
- Administrative Science Quarterly (ASQ), 204
- Agent provocateur*, 190
- Alberta Institutions Conference, 222
- American Journal of Sociology (AJS), 205
- American political development (APD), 265
- American Sociological Review (ASR), 205, 208
- Analytic dimensions, 266
- Analytical model, 229
- Anglo-Saxon tradition, 6
- Antithesis, 214–215
- Apodictic, 255*n*14
- Archives, 252
- Australian medical care, 5

- Bandit organisations, 110
- ‘Bathtub’ model, 196–197, 228
- ‘Belt and Road’ project, 268
- Betriebsverband*, 262
- Big Society Capital (BSC), 153, 161, 170–172
- Boden*, 255*n*9
- “Bootstrapping” process, 7
- Breaches, 29

- Breaking academic silos, 228
  - Marc Schneiberg, 228–230
  - Markus Höllerer, 230
- Bridges Ventures, 153
- Building community, 190–191
- Bureaucratic State, 76, 85–87
- Business sector, 159

- Capitalism, 70, 74, 101
- Capitalist market dynamics, 68
- Central institutional orders, 70
- Change, 50
- Chiasm*, 253
- Cognition, 193, 195
- Collective discovery, 189–190
- Commission on Unclaimed Assets (CUA), 168–169
- Community
  - development, 168
  - investment, 155
- Compliance, 99–100
- Computational text analysis techniques, 156
- Concealed prejudice, taken-for-grantedness as, 249
- Conceptualising institutions
  - as adjectives, 210–211
  - as nouns, 208–210
  - as verbs, 211–212
- Constitution, 237
- Constitutive dynamics, 28, 32
- Contextural dynamics, 28, 32
- Contextures, 30–31
- ‘Coordinated’ market economies, 266
- Copernican revolution, 252
- Corporate crime, 101
- Corporate social responsibility (CSR), 164

- Creep Catchers, 105
- Cultural patterns, 266
- Cultural socio-political structures, 73
- Culture-bearing units, 72
- Custodians, 112
- Custodianship, 112
  - institutional, 114
  - literatures, 115
- Democracy, 74
- Denkkollektiv*, 193
- Denkstil*, 193
- Digital avengers, 105
- Disciplinary power, 61
  - policing deviance in surveillance space, 58–59
  - surveillance space creation, 56–58
- Documentation, 246–247, 252
- Domination power, 55–56, 61
  - ejecting to exclusion space, 59–60
- Ego cogito*, 255n8
- Emergency department (ED), 51
  - discussion, 60–63
  - findings, 55–60
  - institutional power, 51–53
  - methods, 54–55
  - organisational space, 51–53
- Endstiftung*, 236–238, 244–245, 251
  - institution as personal-final, 244–245
- Enron Corporation, 102
- Episodic modes of power, 51
- Epoché*, 241
- Erkenntnis*, 193
- Erkenntnistheorie*, 196
- Ethnies, 72
- Exchange-oriented fields, 216
- Exteriority for local activities, 21
- Externalisation, 255n11
- Family, 69, 74
  - institutional logics, 71
- FCEs, 152, 176
- Field frame, 150–151
- Field-analytic methods, 155
- Field-level
  - institutional logics, 125
  - logics, 125
- Financial institutions, 168
- Fine, Gary Alan, 20
- ‘First dimensional’ argument, 29
- Fleck, Ludwik, 186–187, 191–198
- Flesh, 238
  - as interplay of institutions, 252–254
- “Foundational” causality, 13n1
- Foundations, 5, 228, 236, 238
  - for neoinstitutional theory, 240
  - for phenomenological institutionalism, 193–194
- Frame, 150
- Galois lattice, 156, 160
- Gebilde*, 193
- Greyston Foundation, 109
- Gun laws in United States, 112
- Höllerer, Markus, 227–228, 230, 232
- Human neoclassicism, 108
- Imagined community, 191
- Impact investing, 148, 154
  - between corporate social responsibility and social entrepreneurship, 167–168
- CUA, 168–169
- data analysis, 160–165
- data and methods, 155
- data collection, 155–156
- emerging institutional infrastructure, 176–177
- extracting meanings and actors from texts, 156–160
- institutional plurality, 175–176
- interstitial field emergence, 173–174
- measuring relationality in new structuralism, 151–153
- new practice at intersection of financial, social, and public sectors, 169–170
- news articles appeared in UK, 183
- results, 165

- social impact bonds and BSC, 170–172
- social impact investing as more tightly-coupled field, 172–173
- social impact investing in UK, 153–155
- social investment task force, 166–167
- theoretical background, 149
- Impact investment, 153
- Impact-nexus, 188
  - building community, creating public, 190–191
  - collective discovery and learning, 189–190
  - new sensibilities, 188–189
- “Individual” behavior, 13n1
- Infrastructure PPPs, intermittent excitement for, 81–84
- Inner dissolution, 244
- Inside–outside metaphor, 196
- Institution(s), 11, 23–24, 28–29, 97–99, 207–208, 237–238, 254n4
  - as becoming, 246
  - and experience, 29–30
  - flesh as interplay of, 252–254
  - language of, 208–212
  - beyond micro-vs. macrofoundation debate, 193–198
  - as personal-final, 244–245
  - should not be taken for granted, 249–252
  - as teleological-original, 243–244
  - as transformation-renewal, 245–246
- Institutional analysis
  - phenomenological basis of, 239–240
  - phenomenological origins of, 236
  - philosophical foundations of, 239–241
- Institutional approaches, 262
- Institutional arrangements, 3–4, 7–8
- Institutional change, 98
- Institutional constitution of people, objects and spaces, 26–28
- Institutional context, 74
  - role for adoption and sustainability of PPPs, 91–92
- Institutional contextualisation of local activities, 24–26
- Institutional custodians, 251
- Institutional distance, 266–267
- Institutional entrepreneurship, 98–99, 218
- Institutional infrastructure, 149
- Institutional literature,
  - macrofoundations in, 204–207
- Institutional logics, 70–71, 124–125, 264
- Institutional orders, 68–69
- Institutional pluralism, 70
- Institutional power, 51–53, 61
- Institutional resistance, 124
- Institutional theorisation, language of, 217–218
- Institutional theory, 68, 148, 204, 261–262, 267
  - macro-institutionalism in organisational theory, 204–213
  - microfoundational ‘turn’ in, 22–24
  - beyond micro-vs. macrofoundation debate in, 193–198
  - punishment types within, 100–112
  - on rediscovering macrofoundations of institutions, 213–218
- Institutional work, 50
  - literature, 102
- Institutionalisation, 205, 210–211, 216–218, 239, 246–247
- Institutionalised market logic, 125
- Institutionalist/institutionalism, 31, 212
  - optometric, 34–36
  - optometry, 36
  - theories of world society, 31
- Integrative institutionalism, 13n1, 36, 214
- Inter-institutional system, 6, 68, 70, 79
  - and associated logics, 70–72

- Interplay of institutions, 252
- Issue-oriented fields, 216
- ‘Knight of Faith’, 108
- ‘Labour Party’, 159
- Language of institutional
  - theorisation, 217–218
- Language of institutions, 208–212
- LDA, 157
- Learning, 189–190
- Learnings from Sydney 2030, 187–188
- ‘Liberal’ market economies, 266
- Linguistic expression, 246–247
- Localising macrofoundational, 7–9, 32–34
- Logic radicalisation, 141
- Long-term historical change, 30–32
- ‘Macro’, 185–186
  - approach, 206
- Macro-institutionalism in
  - organisational theory, 204
  - defining institutions, 207–208
  - implications of linguistic choices, 212–213
  - language of institutions, 208–212
  - macrofoundations in institutional literature, 204–207
- Macro-institutions, 22
  - macro-institutional studies return, 263
  - macro-institutional systems at higher levels, 264
  - organisation fields, 263–264
  - organisation populations, 263
  - origins of institutional theory, 261–262
  - origins of organisational studies, 262
  - regional or sectoral institutional systems, 264–265
  - societal systems, 265–267
  - transnational systems, 267–268
  - world systems/world society, 268–269
- Macrofoundational/
  - macrofoundations, 4, 20–22, 37*m*6, 37*m*13, 112–113, 148, 186, 236
  - agenda, 7
  - cues, 8
  - debate in institutional theory, 193–198
  - in institutional literature, 204–207
  - lens, 20–21, 25, 30
  - local activities, 24–28
  - localising, 7–9, 32–34
  - macrofoundational scholarship, horizons of, 28–32
  - of micro-sociology, 20
  - reflections and future directions, 9–12
- Macrofoundations of institutional
  - analysis
    - on balance between reaching out and successfully publishing, 230–232
  - breaking academic silos, 228–230
  - meaning of macrofoundations, 222–225
  - power of cross-level studies, 225–228
  - on whether organisations lost in institutional research, 232
- Macrofoundations of institutions, 70, 204, 214–215
  - institutional fields as contingencies, 216–217
  - language of institutional theorisation, 217–218
  - multiple institutional orders of society as, 70–74
  - of Qatari society influence
    - implementation of PPPs, 84–89
  - on rediscovering, 213
- Macrofounding, 5–7
- Macroscope, 5, 35
- Macrosociological presuppositions, 148
- Marginalised editorial logic evolution
  - in UK Trade Bok Publishing, 132–139

- Marginalised institutional logic
  - evolution
  - data and methods, 129–132
  - implications for research on macrofoundations of institutional resistance, 141–143
  - institutional logic, 139–140
  - institutional resistance through preservation, purification and radicalisation of, 140–141
  - theoretical background, 124–126
  - in UK trade book publishing industry, 124, 126–129
- Marginalised logics, 124
  - evolution through preservation, 133–134
- Market/private sector, 76, 78, 88–89
- Mathematization of nature, 242
- Medical profession, 51, 55, 59–61
- Meta-organisations, 267
- ‘Micro’, 185–186
  - approach, 206
- Micro-level action, 61
- “Micro-sociological” study, 20*n*15
- Micro–macro debate, 193, 198
- Microfoundation(al), 3, 13*n*1, 20, 37*n*2, 186, 214–215
  - approach, 24
  - debate in institutional theory, 193–198
  - of institutions, 197–198
  - movement, 13*n*1, 194, 197
  - ‘turn’ in institutional theory, 20, 22–24
- Microscope, 5, 35
- Microsociology, 153, 214
- Multi-level theory of institutional resistance, 141
- Multi-modality, 26
- Multiple institutional orders of society, 70
  - inter-institutional system and associated logics, 70–72
  - tribe as socio-political form for organising society, 72–74
- Nachstiftung*, 236–238, 245–246, 251
  - institution as transformation-renewal, 245–246
- Named Entity Recognition (NER), 158
- Natural attitude, 241
- Natural Language Processing, 158
- Natural units, 36*n*1
- New institutionalism, 239
- New sensibilities, 188–189
- New structuralism, 148–149, 151, 155
  - measuring relationality in, 151–153
- Non-market institutional orders, 68
- Non-spatio-temporal sense-structure, 247
- Non-Western societies, 68–69
- Nouns, conceptualising institutions as, 208–210
- NVivo 29 software, 129
- Oddities, 29
- Optometric imagery, 5, 21
- Optometric institutionalism, 34–36
- Optometry, 35
- Organisation Science (OrgSci), 204
- Organisation(s), 97–98, 111, 262
  - fields, 225
  - fields, 263–264
  - populations, 263
  - types, 267
- Organisational space, 51–53, 61
  - containing, 61
  - hiding, 61
  - reminding, 62
  - revealing, 62
- Organisational stigma, 100, 104, 106, 114–115
- Organisational studies, 262
- Organisational theory, macro-institutionalism in, 204–213
- Organization Studies (OrgStudies), 204
- Passivity-activity, 250
- Peines infamantes*, 104
- Perception, 241

- Phenomenological basis of
  - institutional analysis, 239–240
- Phenomenological origins of
  - institutional analysis, 236
- Phenomenology, 240–241
- Phenomenology of institution
  - Endstiftung*, 244–245
  - institutionalisation, 246–247
  - Nachstiftung*, 245–246
  - Stiftung*, 242–243, 246
  - Urstiftung*, 243–244
- Phenomenology of taken-for-grantedness, 247–248
  - taken-for-grantedness as concealed prejudice, 249
  - taken-for-grantedness as unreflective inheritance, 248–249
- Philosophical foundations of
  - institutional analysis, 239
  - phenomenological basis of institutional analysis, 239–240
  - phenomenology, 240–241
- Policing, 98–99, 102, 112, 114
  - deviance in surveillance space, 58–59
- Policy-making, 78
- Political nature of tribes, 73
- Power, 51–52
  - disciplinary power, 56–59
  - domination power, 55–56, 59–60
  - power-relations, 53
- Preservation of editorial logic, 8, 132–134
- Primordial perception, 241
- Proto-institutionalisation, 154
- Public creation, 190–191
- Public shaming, 105
- Public–private partnerships (PPPs), 6, 68–69
  - Bureaucratic state, 85–87
  - critical role of institutional context for adoption and sustainability of, 91–92
  - data collection and analysis, 80–81
  - empirical context of, 74–75
  - enduring influence of tribe as inter-institutional system, 89–91
  - intermittent excitement for infrastructure PPPs, 81–84
  - macrofoundations of Qatari society influence implementation of, 84
  - market/private sector, 88–89
  - multiple institutional orders of society as macrofoundations, 70–74
  - research context, 76–80
  - research design and methods, 75
  - ruling family, 84–85
- Punishment, 5, 98–99
  - discussion, 112–115
  - research on, 98
  - types within institutional theory, 100–112
- Punishment-as-charivari, 6–7, 99, 104–106
  - reinforcing macrofoundations of institutions, 106–107
- Punishment-as-rehabilitation, 6–7, 99, 107–108
  - reinforcing macrofoundations of institutions, 108–109
- Punishment-as-retribution, 6, 99, 101–103
  - reinforcing macrofoundations of institutions, 103–104
- Punishment-as-vigilantism, 6–7, 99, 109–111, 113
  - reinforcing macrofoundations of institutions, 111–112
- Purification of editorial logic, 8, 134–137
- Purposive “actor”, 197
- Qatar, 69, 76
  - institutional orders in, 76–77
  - PPs projects completed in, 79
  - state bureaucracy in, 78
- Quasi ‘automatic’ cognitive processes, 195

- Radicalisation of editorial logic, 8, 137–139
- Radicalised marginal logicsk, 143
- 'Rediscovering' power of institutions, 222, 225
- Regional institutional systems, 264–265
- Rehabilitation, 108–109
- Relational spaces, 53
- Relationality measuring in new structuralism, 151–153
- Reliance, 102
- Religion, 74
- Rendering, 156
- Resistance, 125
- Responsible Care Program, 103
- 'Resuscitation' zone, 54
- Ruling family, 76, 84–85

- Schneiberg, Marc, 222–223, 228–233
- 'Second dimensional' argument, 29
- Sectoral institutional systems, 264–265
- Selbstverständlichkeit*, 247
- Senses, 242
- Shaming, 104, 106
- Shareholder value, 151
- Social entrepreneurship, 168, 170
- Social impact bond (SIB), 170–172
- Social impact investing, 148, 170
  - as more tightly-coupled field, 172–173
  - in UK, 153–155
- Social investing/investment, 148
  - organisations, 159
  - in UK, 153
- Social investment task force (SITF), 166–168
- Social reality, 70
- Socially responsible investment, 168
- Societal orders, 69
- Societal systems, 265–267
- Socio-cognitive infrastructure, 196, 222
- Sociological theory, 214
- Sociology of tribes, 72
- Spaces, 50
- State, 51–52, 55–60, 62–63, 74
- Stiftung*, 236–237, 246, 254, 254n5
  - institution as becoming, 246
- Strategic Management Journal (SMJ), 205
- Strategy, 186–188, 190–191
- Structural primacy, 37n10
- Subjective iteration, 246–247
- Subjectivity of consciousness, 240–241
- Supratemporal sense-structure, 247
- Surveillance space
  - creation, 56–58
  - policing deviance in, 58–59
- Sustainable business, 164, 168
- Sustainable Sydney* 2030, 187
- Sydney* 2030, 186, 198n2
  - impact-nexus, 188–191
  - learnings from, 187–188
  - theorising impact, 191–198
- Synthesis, 214–215
- Systemic modes of power, 51–52

- Taken-for-grantedness, 240
  - as concealed prejudice, 249
  - as facticity, 250
  - as unreflective inheritance, 248–249
- Temporal bracketing strategy, 160
- Text analysis techniques, 160
- Thornton, Patricia, 225–227, 231, 233
- Thought collectives, 186, 191–198
- Thought community, 192
- Thought styles, 186, 191–198
- Time, 250
- Transformations, 38n18, 245–247
- Transnational systems, 267–268
- 'Triage' zone, 54
- Tribalism, 72
- Tribe, 72
  - enduring influence of tribe as inter-institutional system, 89–91
  - as socio-political form for organising society, 72–74

- UK trade book publishing industry, 124, 126
  - historical developments, 126–128

- independent book publishers in
    UK, 128–129
- institutional pressures for market
    logic compliance, 128
- marginalised editorial logic
    evolution in, 132
- preservation of editorial logic,
    132–134
- purification of editorial logic, 134–137
- radicalisation of editorial logic,
    137–139
- Unreflective inheritance, taken-for-grantedness as, 248–249
- Urstiftung*, 236–237, 242–243, 251
  - institution as teleological-original,
        243–244
- Verbs, conceptualising institutions as,
    211–212
- Vigilante organisations, 110
- Vigilantes, 112
- Vigilantism, 110–111
- Violence, 98–99, 102
  - informal, 104
  - intersection, 109
  - roles, 111
- World systems/world society,
    268–269
- Zietsma, Charlene, 223–225, 231–233