ABOUT THE EDITORS

Luca Fiorito received his PhD in Economics from the New School for Social Research in New York and is currently Professor at the University of Palermo. His main area of interest is the history of American economic thought in the Progressive Era and the interwar years. He has published many works on the contributions of the institutionalists and on the relationship between economics and eugenics.

Scott Scheall is Assistant Professor and Director of Graduate Studies in the Faculty of Social Science in Arizona State University's College of Integrative Sciences and Arts, as well as Project Director for the History of Economic Thought in Arizona State University's Center for the Study of Economic Liberty. He has published extensively on topics related to the history and philosophy of the Austrian School of Economics.

Carlos Eduardo Suprinyak is Associate Professor of Economics at the Federal University of Minas Gerais (UFMG), Brazil. He specializes in the history and methodology of economics, studying the interplay of social, political, and economic ideas in early modern England, and the institutionalization of economics in Brazil during the postwar era. He has published several papers on these and related themes in peer-reviewed scholarly journals, and is also the co-editor of The Political Economy of Latin American Independence (Routledge, 2017).

VOLUME INTRODUCTION

We are happy to present Volume 38A of Research in the History of Economic Thought and Methodology, the first of three volumes that we plan to publish in 2020. The volume features a symposium on public finance in the history of economic thought co-edited by guest editors Claire Silvant and Javier San Julián Arrupe. The symposium comprises the results of a research project on “The Trade-off between Taxation, Debt and Money Creation in the History of Public Finance Crises, 1848–1914” that was supported by a grant from the European Society for the History of Economic Thought between 2014 and 2017. In addition to essays by the co-editors, the symposium includes contributions from Richard Sturn, Christina Laskaridis, Nesrine Bentemessek Kahia, Clément Coste, and Samuel Demeulemeester.

The volume also features original general-research contributions from Cosma Orsi and John Henry.

Lastly, the volume includes a touching obituary by Matheus Assaf honoring his friend, Gabriel Oliva, winner of our first Warren Samuels Prize for Interdisciplinary Research in the History of Economic Thought and Methodology in 2016, who tragically and unexpectedly passed away this April.
