

The article published by Melissa Cora Cardinal “Lost births” service delivery, and human resources to health has an error regarding reporting who is offering Midwifery Education. The University College of the North disbanded their midwifery education program in 2015.

